Who was the best boss you have worked for and why?

Talk about the hardest task, project or accomplishment you have ever had to complete in your life?
(This must be a tangible objective you completed, not an emotional time you went through)

Who is the best leader you have ever known, studied or read about and why?

How do you plan to live your life to influence and improve the lives of other people?

Talk about a time when you had to lead despite your inexperience or knowledge of a situation:

If you had an infinite supply of water and a 5 quart and 3 quart pail (with no markings and non-straight sides), how would you measure exactly 4 quarts?

Give at least 2 reasons why manhole covers are round (the answer is not "because manholes are round"):

In a circus, are you the ring leader, lion tamer, lion, or spectator? Why?

A man is traveling with a tiger, a goat, and a cabbage. I have no idea why he would be travelling with such a strange assortment, but there he is anyway. At one point in his journey he comes to a river which is too deep to wade across, and too wide to swim across, so he is in a quandary on how to continue. He notices a small boat resting on the near shore, but the boat is too small to fit all his belongings into, but it is large enough so that he can safely row across with one belonging at a time. How can he safely cross the river with all his things intact? The problem is that if he rows across with the tiger first, then the goat will eat the cabbage, and if he rows across with the cabbage first, the tiger will eat the goat.

What are you passionate about? How are you involved with your passion?

Pick 1 to 5 words that best describe who you are:

We are a company that wants to continue to grow. We like to grow our employees as well, however, not everyone wants /needs to grow within our organization. Do you want to grow, and if so, tell us how you see that playing out? If you don't want to grow, please tell us where you are going or why you are happy staying steady:

Describe in your own words what it means to win:

Who is John Galt? Or, what was the best book you have ever read and why?

How could our website improve?

What do you like about our restaurant?

How could our service improve?

How could our food improve?

What was the most memorable meal of your life? Please give details:

Tell us your thoughts on money and how it relates to you, others, and the outside world:

What do you value most in your life?

What is something you put a low value on that you think most of society puts a high value on?

How do you achieve happiness? Or, what is your road to happiness?

What used to mean something to you but now means nothing to you?

We are always looking for the best applicants interested in being part of our organization; if we do not have any openings we still may hire people who do well on this application and who do well in the interview process. We always want to get better and challenge ourselves and new people and perspectives can help us achieve better standards. Please bring this application back and hand it to a manager only. If a manager is not present please leave your information so a manager can contact you about bringing in the application.
